

English language courses for Young Professionals

Better English Better jobs

If you have recently started working, or are perhaps finishing your studies and are preparing for your career, then our Young Professionals courses will be ideal for you.

You can probably communicate quite well in ordinary English, but do you have the specialised English language skills that you will need to succeed in your chosen career?

We have unrivalled experience in English language training.

Professional people need different skills from those needed by general language learners. We have the trainers and the courses to make sure that you get them.

After a course with us, you will:

- communicate more confidently in business or legal situations
- use specialised business and legal vocabulary more effectively
- participate in meetings and give presentations with greater confidence
- improve your negotiation skills
- be in a position to get a better job and earn more money

“ This school gave me after two weeks,
more than 8 years of learning English
in my own country. ”

This course is also available as a Combination Course - half day group, half day individual tuition.

Legal English: Young Lawyers

Preparing yourself for your international legal career

This 3-week course is suitable for recently qualified lawyers and for law students.

You will:

- develop skills for client meetings, presentations and negotiations
- improve your understanding of contracts and how to draft them
- handle commercial correspondence and emails
- discuss legal topics and case studies
- improve your legal vocabulary
- greatly improve your confidence in this specialist area
- develop networking skills and expand your international contacts

The main focus of the course is on commercial law and civil law (including contract law). The trainers are specialists and in addition the course offers valuable input from the real legal world including visits to the courts and sessions led by practising lawyers.

We have been teaching English since 1912. We are the world's oldest accredited English language school.

Our executive training centre is in Holland Park – one of London's most exclusive residential areas, very close to the centre of the city.

All the courses we run in Holland Park are for professionals who need English for their work. Some are older, some are just starting their careers. But they all need serious, focused language training to help them succeed more effectively.

Facilities and services are first-class, including top-quality technical resources and an excellent restaurant at lunch time. We offer a range of comfortable, friendly accommodation and a full support package including airport pickups, leisure programme, insurance etc.

Our courses combine the highest professional standards with friendly informality.

Courses at our Westcroft Square centre

If you would like to work on your general or academic language skills before studying on one of our young professionals' programmes, our Intensive General English course or our English for University course will be ideal. These courses are intensive and attract serious adults who are usually learning for their careers or before they go to university. More than half our students at Westcroft Square are 25 or older. The Intensive General English course offers a very good foundation or brush up, with an emphasis on listening and speaking skills. English for University is a specialised course which gives you all the skills you need for a successful university experience.
